

Sunday with a direct purpose to honor the Savior in the salvation of souls, my heart was warmed and strengthened greatly. The infirmities of the body hinder me in my progress toward the Christ-likeness that excites my desire, but I love him, and above all things wish to be like him.

THE LEADER. There is no record that Jesus was ever sick, but he was hungry, tired, lonely, sorrowing, and knew in his human nature what human infirmity is. He is touched with the feeling of our infirmities, and is a merciful high-priest over the house of God. As we are to share his thought, his love, his work, his glory, so he shares our infirmities. He shares our humiliation, and we share his exaltation. You may get nearer to him in your weakness than you could in any other way. His touch turns every thing into blessing.

SISTER C. I fall far short of the Christ-like life that attracts me with its beauty, but I do find in self-abnegation and Christian service an enjoyment superior to any other. I ask the prayers of the class.

BROTHER T. I lack that perfect humility without which I know I shall not be properly equipped for the work to which God has called me as a preacher of the gospel.

THE LEADER. A minister of the gospel, of all men, must have this mind that was in Christ Jesus. He must be humble. It is only when he is thus humble that he can be exalted to the higher experiences of the Christian life and endued with all its power. Wrestle and prevail here, my brother, and you will be strong forever.

BROTHER L. I am seeking this conformity to Jesus, but my progress is very slow. It is the work of a life-time to attain the mind that was in Christ Jesus.

THE LEADER. Yes, you may grow in grace and knowl-
